Who: Presented by the Brevard Multi-cultural Unity Council (BMUC) for preschool and school age children.

What: A curriculum developed to promote multi-cultural awareness in children.

Why: The goal is to foster positive attitudes in children about diversity. To allow children to recognize that differences make the world beautiful.

How: By breaking up a large group of children into four smaller groups and rotating through four activity stations lasting approximately 20 minutes each. The children then re-group for a large group activity and a wrap-up activity.

Where: The program was designed to be used in schools, houses of worship, or childcare facilities.

When: The program itself is spread over five days and lasts approximately two hours per day. For your convenience the BMUC has designed this to be a "traveling program". If you would like to host this program at your facility, please contact the BMUC for scheduling by e-mail or telephone:
